

IRES.Think tank

The health system in the light of national sovereignty and the generalization of social coverage

The Royal Institute for Strategic Studies (IRES) has continued its reflection on the future of the national health system by producing a summary report entitled "Which health system in Morocco in the light of national sovereignty and the generalization of social coverage? This report draw up an inventory of the current situation and formulate some proposals for the appropriate implementation of the overhaul of the health system called for by His Majesty King Mohammed VI.

The future of relations between the Kingdom of Morocco and the United States of America

The draft report of this study highlights the determinants and priority areas of U.S. foreign policy, takes stock of relations between Morocco and the United States and proposes levers to develop multidimensional cooperation between the two partners and extend it to areas of common interest, including Africa.

IRES.Veille

Horizon Scanning

IRES has conducted a horizon scanning exercise that has allowed to identify some weak signals, emergences and trend evolutions on a global scale by 2035, in relation to the issues of disruptive technologies.

The Mediterranean in 2050

A foresight reflection has been launched by IRES to explore possible scenarios for the future of the Mediterranean by 2050 in geopolitical, economic, social and environmental terms.

May and June 2022 webographic watch bulletin

The May and June 2022 issues of the "Bulletin de veille webographique", available online on the IRES website, present summaries of foresight reports on the following themes: the European Union's blue governance, the main global risks in 2022, the geopolitics of energy transformation, ...

Réunions de travail

The future of relations between the Kingdom of Morocco and the Federal Republic of Germany

This conference, held on May 19, 2022, was attended by an important German delegation led by His Excellency Mr. Robert Dölger, Ambassador of Germany in Rabat, Moroccan diplomats as well as representatives of ministerial departments and Moroccan national agencies involved in Moroccan-German cooperation.

Exchanges focused on the prospects for the development of relations between Morocco and Germany, both bilaterally and in Europe, and on issues and areas of common interest, including Africa and the transatlantic area.

Day of reflection on the future of the region of Dakhla Oued -Eddahab

Bringing together many senior national and West African officials, as well as academic experts, this meeting, held on May 31, 2022, was an opportunity to address the development prospects of this region, the largest in Morocco in terms of area, as well as the pivotal role it is called to play in South-South cooperation, especially at the African level and in the articulation with the Atlantic and European spaces.

"Towards a new post-Covid-19 world: what prospects for Africa?"

On the occasion of the 27th edition of the International Book and Publishing Fair (SIEL), the Director General of IRES, Mr. Tawfik MOULINE led, on June 3, 2022, a conference on the theme "Towards a new post-Covid-19 world: what prospects for Africa?" attended by Moroccan and foreign personalities as well as academic experts.

10th edition of the Forum of Arab Thought and Culture

As an active member of the Coalition of Arab Research and Culture Centers, IRES organized, in Marrakech on June 8, 2022, the 10th edition of the Forum of Arab Thought and Culture, under the theme "The Arab world facing the new international challenges".

The final communiqué of this conference proposed a series of guidelines to strengthen the geopolitical positioning of the Arab world and its strategic sovereignty, in a context of increasing polarization and the rise of new areas of conflict, cyber, in particular, to improve the insertion of Arab economies in global value chains and promote the emergence of regional value chains to enable Arab countries to secure their access to strategic resources and achieve autonomy in the sectors of life. He also emphasized the need to reform governance and place the citizen at the heart of public policies and decision-making processes.

Setting a new trajectory for a new disruptive health model

On June 21, 2022, the Institute brought together a small circle of health science experts to present and discuss the main conclusions of the provisional summary report of the Foresight Day held on April 20, 2022, on the theme "What health system in Morocco in the light of national sovereignty and the generalization of social coverage?"

At the end of this meeting, the debates highlighted the key issues of the future on which action should be focused and the levers of change that should be activated in order to implement a renovated, sovereign and inclusive Moroccan health model, in accordance with the High Royal Directions.

Reputation of Morocco in the world in 2022

IRES presented, on June 30, 2022, the main results of the eighth edition of the survey on the reputation of Morocco in the world, conducted by the Institute, as part of the work of its observatory on the image of Morocco internationally, in partnership with "Reputation Lab", an international firm specializing in the field of "Nation Branding".

The 2022 edition focused on the analysis of the reputation of the Kingdom in the G-7 countries + Russia and in 18 developed and / or emerging countries. It was characterized, compared to previous surveys, by the integration of new attributes, namely respect for human rights, environmental protection and efforts to combat climate change.

The methodology, adopted in 2022, allowed for a reorganization of the 22 attributes into five dimensions: Quality of life, Level of development, Institutional quality, Human factor, Ethics and responsibility.

COOPERATION

The participation of the IRES in the 27th edition of the International Book and Publishing Fair (SIEL)

As in previous years, the Institute actively participated in the 27th edition of the International Book and Publishing Fair (SIEL), held from June 2 to 12, 2022 in Rabat, the African capital of culture.

Within the framework of the cultural program of the SIEL, which focused on Africa, the IRES associate experts animated conferences on the following themes

- African migration,
- The reform of the African Union,
- The new economic diplomacy in Africa,
- The security issue in Africa.

Visit to IRES of a high level delegation from the National Defense University of Pakistan

A high level delegation from the National Defense University of Pakistan, chaired by General Muhammad Aamer Najam and the Defense Attaché of the Embassy of Pakistan in Rabat, General Talha Altaf, and composed of several senior officers of the Pakistani, Saudi and Thai armed forces, paid a working visit to IRES on June 13, 2022.

Agenda

In the months of July and August 2022, IRES will organize:

- a day on "How to adopt the "One Health" approach in Morocco?"
- a presentation of the book " Le Sahara à l'épreuve de la colonisation " .